

Boston University/Keio University Workshop on Dynamical Systems

September 15-19, 2014

Boston University

Department of Mathematics and Statistics

111 Cummington Mall

Boston, MA 02215

Description

This is the fourth in a series of annual workshops run jointly by Boston University (US) and Keio University (Japan) and aimed at exposing young researchers to topics of interest in the two departments. This year's focus will be Dynamical Systems, and the talks will be accessible to graduate students in that area. Morning sessions will involve talks by faculty, and afternoon sessions will involve talks by graduate students and postdocs. NSF funding is available to partially support non-Boston area graduate students and postdocs whose PhD was awarded in 2011 or later.
