Equivariant intersection cohomology of toric varieties

Tom Braden
Department of Mathematics
Harvard

Abstract

The equivariant intersection cohomology of toric varieties has a beautiful explicit (and effectively computable) functorial description. This description can in turn be used to give simple computations of some functorialities between intersection cohomology groups and the structure of categories of perverse sheaves on these spaces.